

Manuel Mosquera-Tarrío

EDUCATION

Ph.D. in Economics, 2021
University of Manchester (UoM), UK

Master in Economic Analysis, 2014-2016
Universidad Carlos III (UC3M), Spain

Master in Economics, 2010-2011*
Universidad de San Andrés (UdeSA), Argentina

Licenciado (B.Sc) in Economics, cum laude, 2007
Universidad de Buenos Aires (UBA), Argentina

CURRENT POSITION

2020 – present Senior Research Economist, Economic Research Division, CEMLA

PREVIOUS POSITIONS

2019 – 2020 Teaching Associate, Department of Economics, University of Manchester

2019 – 2020 Visiting Lecturer, Department of Economics, University of Manchester

2019 Research Assistant, Department of Economics, University of Manchester

2017 – 2019 Teaching Assistant, Department of Economics, University of Manchester

2011 – 2014 Economic and Financial Analyst, Research Department, Tavelli & Cía.

2008 – 2011 Economist, Commercial Department, Tavelli & Cía.

RESEARCH INTERESTS

Macroeconomics, Monetary Economics, Inflation Dynamics, Learning and Expectations Formation.

WORKING PAPERS

Learning Under Multiple Information Sets, 2020 (latest version available)

Underreaction of Expectations After Large Depreciations, 2021 (latest version available)

WORK IN PROGRESS

Information frictions: the biased-channel

FELLOWSHIPS, AWARDS AND SCHOLARSHIPS

Studentship, University of Manchester, 2016-2019

Associate Fellow, Higher Education Academy, UK, 2018

Graduate Program Scholarship, Universidad Carlos III, 2014-2016

Chevening Scholarship, 2014 (declined)

Master's Degree Merit Scholarship, Universidad de San Andrés, 2010