

XXVII Meeting of the Central Bank Researchers Network

CALL FOR PAPERS

9 - 11 November 2022 – Mexico City (hybrid)

The Center for Latin American Monetary Studies (CEMLA) is organizing its XXVII Meeting of the Central Bank Researchers Network, to be held November 9-11th, 2022. CEMLA invites contributions from papers in which at least one co-author is affiliated to a CEMLA Member Institution (Associate or Collaborating). Notwithstanding the above, authors affiliated to other external institutions are also welcome to submit their papers, for whom a limited amount of slots in the program will be considered.

Papers accepted for presentation will be followed by a discussion from another speaker within the session. Accepted papers, as well as presentations and discussions, will be posted on the Conference website to facilitate the discussion among participants.

Keynote Speakers

---

Enrique G. Mendoza, University of Pennsylvania
Pablo A. Guerrón-Quintana, Boston College

Venue

---

If pandemic conditions permit, the conference will be held in Mexico City in a hybrid format (both, in-person for a small number of people (mainly presenters) and digitally); otherwise, the conference will be held digitally. There is no registration fee. However, participants are expected to pay their expenses for travel and accommodation.

Conference Special Issue

A special issue of the Latin American Journal of Central Banking (LAJCB) will include selected papers presented at the conference. Authors who wish their paper to be considered for the Special Issue, should clearly indicate this in their conference submission.

Special Issue Award

An award will be offered to the author(s) of the best papers of the Special Issue of the LAJCB, which will receive a compensation of 2,000 USD and 1,000 USD for the first- and second-best paper, respectively. All other included papers in the Special Issue will receive a compensation of 250 USD each.
